

Starting a Food Pantry

Thank you for thinking about supporting your community by providing food to people at risk of hunger. AzFBN regional food banks serve nearly 1,000 agencies and pantries throughout Arizona.

Collectively, this network distributes nearly 150 million pounds of food each year. Below are a few key resources to get you started.

Step 1 - Find your Regional Food Bank

To make sure we can get food to every county in the state, each regional food bank serves specific geographic regions. Visit Feeding America's Find a Food Bank Page to find your regional food bank.

Step 2 - Contact your Regional Food Bank

Follow the below links to get information for your regional food bank and contact them with your interest:

Helpful tips

Network of food banks are eager to support organizations interested in starting a food pantry. Here are some key things to consider:

- Your organization must be an IRS certified as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization or faith-based equivalent.
- Your organization should be prepared to get all required business licensing appropriate for your city, county, or the state of Arizona.
- Your organization should be prepared to meet all necessary health and safety requirements designated by your city, county, or the state of Arizona.
- It's helpful to make sure you have sustainable funding to support your program. Check out the Workshops and Webinars pages of this website for information that can help.
